

Are you pregnant and in a relationship?

KING'S College
LONDON

We are conducting research at King's College London about health and wellbeing during and after pregnancy. If you are interested in taking part, please read below:

The study will look at how job roles of partners might affect the mental health and wellbeing of women during pregnancy and in the months following birth. The demands of certain jobs may mean that situations such as family separation and relocation are a regular part of family life.

We would like to find out how your partner's job might affect your wellbeing during and after pregnancy (the perinatal period). We'll be looking at how this differs for women whose spouse/partner is in the Armed Forces, compared to those whose spouse/partner isn't in the Armed Forces.

You might be able to take part if you are:

- Pregnant (12 weeks or more)
- 16+ years old
- Married, in a civil partnership or relationship

For more information:

- Speak to your GP or midwife
- Twitter: @wow_study
- Email: wowstudy@kcl.ac.uk

