Dear Enthusiast

Royal Naval Air Station Yeovilton will be celebrating its 70th Anniversary at their annual Air Day on Saturday 10 July 2010 to an expected audience of over 35,000 people. It was commissioned HMS Heron on 18 June 1940 as a base for naval fighter aircraft. Since then it has grown to become a multi-role air station and has become the base for the Commando Helicopter Force (CHF) and Lynx Helicopter Force (LHF) as well as home to the Royal Navy Historic Flight. It is one of the UK’s busiest military airfields operating over 100 aircraft on 1,400 acres of airfield sites.

This significant milestone will be marked within Air Day’s extensive flying and static displays. Types such as the illustrious Fairey Swordfish torpedo bomber - famed for its attack on the German battleship Bismarck, the potent, Korean War-era Hawker Sea Fury and the world’s only flying example of a Hawker Sea Hawk will take to the skies along with their modern counterparts such as the Harrier, evoking nostalgic memories of 70 years of naval aviation at RNAS Yeovilton.

Air Day will also feature world class military aerobatic teams as well as foreign fast jet displays given by aircraft representing the cutting edge of modern global fighter technology. The finale to the event will be the renowned Commando Assault Demonstration, incorporating RAF and Army Air Corps assets along with plenty of pyrotechnics!

Again this year, we are including a Vintage & Classic Vehicle and Motorcycle Exhibition as part of our extensive ground displays. If you would like to exhibit your vehicle, please complete in full the application form and return it to us with a cheque made payable to ‘AHA Events Ltd’, Mayfair, 1 The Square, Barnstaple, N. Devon, EX32 8LS. We will then forward further details together with your tickets and passes.

Please photocopy this letter and pass it on to anyone who has a suitable vehicle they would like to exhibit.

Further information is available on the Air Day website at: www.yeoviltonairday.co.uk. If you have any specific queries, please call us on 08445 780 780.

All applications are accepted at the discretion of AHA Events Ltd in the interest of the exhibition and the general public. The Event Co-ordinator’s decision is final.

Yours truly

Kaih Patel
